Shady Beach Yirrkala, NT, wins Heritage and Culture Award at the Australian Clean Beaches Awards for 2009/2010

Shady Beach Yirrkala in NT has been named equal winner of the Heritage and Culture category at the annual Keep Australia Beautiful, Australian Clean Beaches Awards, held in Manly last night.

Represented by Banambi Wunungmurra, Shire President of East Arnhem Shire Council, Shady Beach was announced the category winner for the Heritage and Culture award – in equal place with West Beach, Burnie, in TAS.

According to the Australian Clean Beaches Judge, David Moy, Shady Beach Yirrkala was a deserving winner in this category.

“Yirrkala is an indigenous beach community in East Arnhem Land on the Gove Peninsula. The Gumatj clan are the custodians of Shady Beach. They are charged with looking after the environment for future generations and have gone to great efforts to preserve its heritage and culture. Elders still pass on the knowledge about traditional bark paintings, totem carvings and other crafts to the children, and are also involved in a range of school programs related to the beach heritage and culture of the Yolungu.”

“The indigenous community respects not only the beach but also the air, ocean, land behind the beach. The sea and ocean has a particularly strong influence on the Yolungu. The youth are taught how to sail and fish and the art of traditional boat making and these traditions are included on a video production – available on DVD”, David Moy added.

In attendance at last night's awards was the Minister for Climate Change, Energy Efficiency and Water, Penny Wong, and local surfer and seven times world champion, Layne Beachley.

Senator Wong commended the winners, “I congratulate the dedicated community members on their commitment in taking steps to improve their local community's environment.”

South Port Noarlunga, SA was named Overall winner, taking out the title of Australia's Cleanest Beach for 2009/2010.

Through the Australian Clean Beaches Awards, Keep Australia Beautiful is able to recognise local community and individual efforts that are helping beach communities to become environmentally, economically and socially sustainable. The awards are sponsored by Mount Franklin Spring Water, Coastalwatch and the Hungry Jack's 'Bag it & Bin it' program.
