

Putting the sustainable into city

AFTER winning the NSW Keep Australia Beautiful Sustainable Cities Award for 2009, Canada Bay Council is now vying for the national title.

The council clinched the NSW award through initiatives to reduce the area's carbon footprint and incorporate new technologies to become an environmentally sustainable city. The winner of the Australian Sustainable Cities Awards will be announced on October 23.

Pictured, from left: Petrina Nelson, Drummoyne MP, Angela D'Amore and Canada Bay deputy mayor, Jeanette O'Hara, were recently visited by the Australian Sustainable City judge, Sean Rooney.

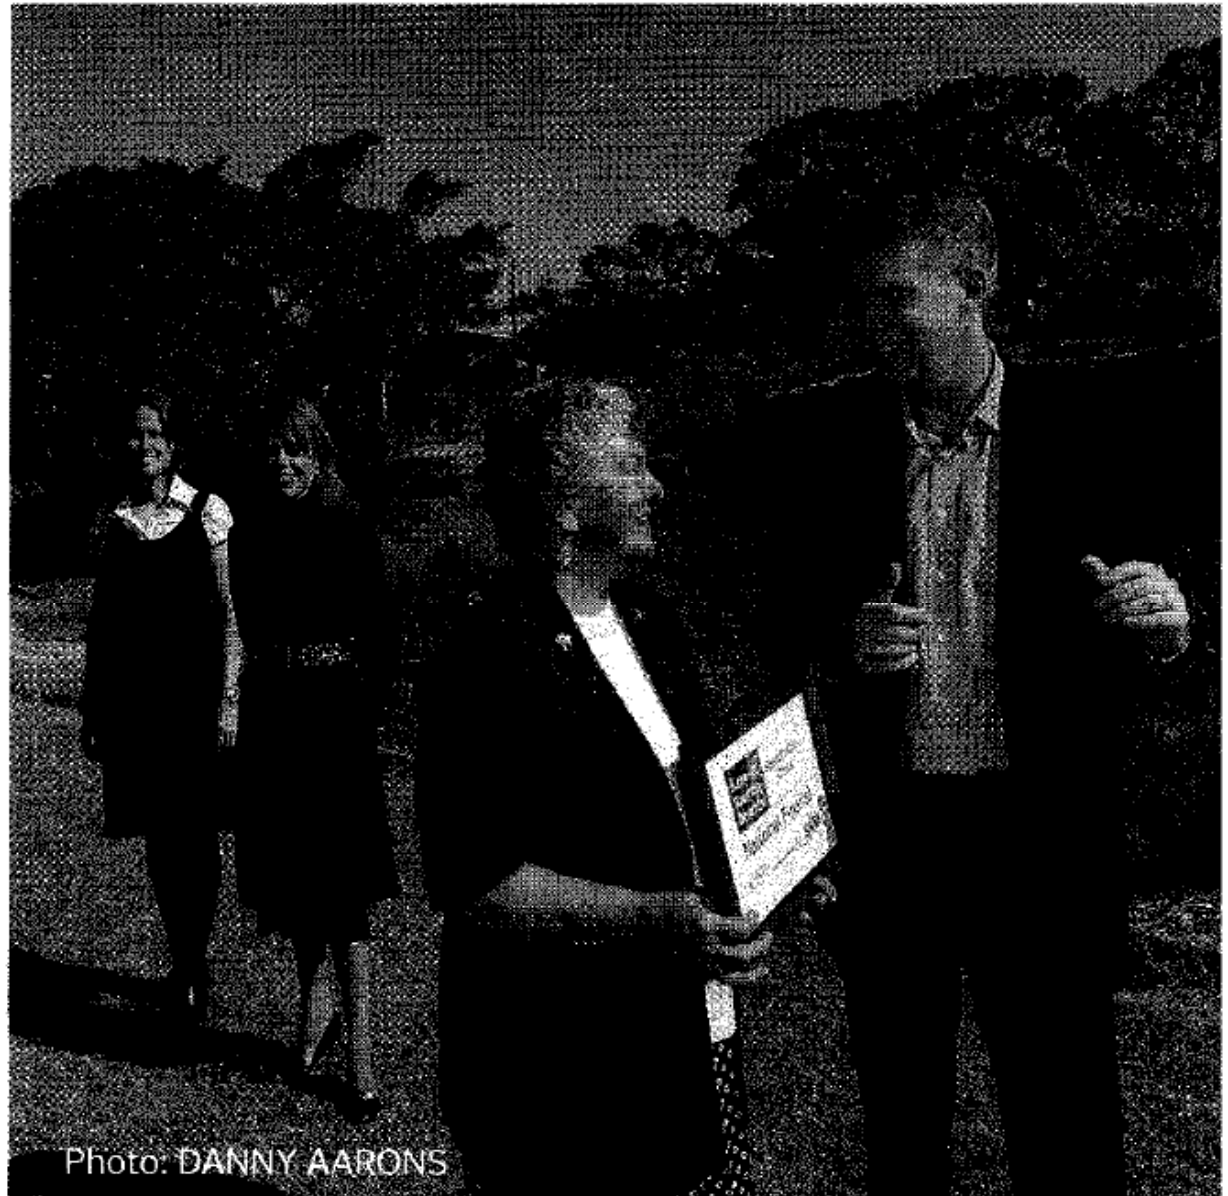

Photo: DANNY AARONS