

Hedland's clean sweep

THE Pilbara town of Hedland will run for the title of Australia's tidiest town after this week being named the WA winner of the 2009 Tidy Towns-Sustainable Communities awards.

Hedland, comprising Port and South Hedland, was voted WA's winner for its commitment to upgrading infrastructure and fostering community co-operation. "The community engagement and youth development efforts are exemplary and the successful 'Cash for Trash' initiative and associated activities showed real leadership," Environment Minister Donna Faragher said.
